NOTES ON NEWS OF THE DAY.

Our Democratic exchanges are still defending the Whisky Call for a Whisky State Convention formulated by our Whisky Governor.

THREE persons were drowned yesterday by the bursting of a dam in the town of Cranston fifteen miles from Providence. The dam covered 18 acres and contained 35,000,000 gallons of water. The weather may be wet or dry, but the rotten dam, like death, has all seasons for its own.

PRESIDENT HARRISON and his wife attended services at the little Deer Park Chapel yesterday morning. Rev. Reese Alsop of Brooklyn preached. The President took a long walk in the mountains in the afternoon. He will remain at Deer Park till the middle of September, and prepare portions of his message.

AMONG the coming appointments on the tongues of political gossips is that of Hon. Warner Miller to be minister to Russia. Col. Elliott P. Shepherd is also popularly mentioned for the place. The position is the one to which the lamented Allen Thorndike Rice was assigned, and was filled during Mr. Cleveland's term by Judge Lambert Tree of Illinois.

THE dead body of Mrs. Elizabeth Lewry was found in her home in Philadelphia, Saturday afternoon. The woman was worth $100,000, and had well-to-do children who had urged her to live with them. She preferred a garret of two rooms, which was found in so filthy condition two months ago that the Board of Health ordered them cleaned. She was a miser, and died alone.

KILRAIN was led back to Purvis, Miss., yesterday morning. His bond had been fixed at $2,000, and he expected to find sureties and be released this morning. He proposes to go on sparring exhibitions, and thinks he would like to meet Sullivan once more. They will not need to go out of the state of New York to fight the next time. Gov. Hill can be relied upon to protect them from our ugly laws.

It is among the rumors at Washington that Hon. Wm. D. Kelley of Philadelphia is to be Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, whether Reed or McKinley is elected Speaker. As Mr. Kelley is the best informed person in Congress on the tariff and has been a leader of the Protectionist forces for twenty years, his appointment as the successor of Roger Q. Mills would more strikingly illustrate the difference in the economical policies of the two parties than any other that could be made.

THE Republican State Convention of Massachusetts will be held on the same day as that of New-York, Sept. 25th. The people are taking great interest in the Governorship, the leading candidates for which are ex-Congressman Cropp of New Bedford and Lieut. Gov. Brackett. The canvass looks favorable for Cropp. Brackett is now acting Governor on account of the sickness of Gov. Ames. The Democratic candidate will probably be Hon. Wm. E. Russell of Cambridge, who was defeated by over 23,000 majority last fall.

CAPT. HENRY CRAWFORD, the wealthiest steamboat owner in Pennsylvania, died at his home in Philadelphia yesterday aged 76 years. He began life as a freeman, but at his death owned large interests in the Wilmington and Chester steamboats, the Upper Delaware Steamboat Company and the steamboat Republic, and was the sole owner of the passenger steamer Twilight. He was also largely interested in coasting schooners and tug-boats. The flags on all the shipping in and around Philadelphia were lowered to half mast when he died.

CARLOS GRAHAM, the Niagara Rapids swimmer, went through the Devil's Rapids yesterday in a barrel so tight that he was in total darkness. It was the most perilous adventure yet attempted in the vicinity of the Falls, and it is almost miraculous that he was not dashed to pieces. Rescuers stood ready to grasp him at the whirlpool, but he was carried on to Lewiston. When finally rescued he was more dead than alive, but soon recovered. He had been in the water 25 minutes, ten of which were spent in the four mile stretch of the rapids.

THE Philadelphia Record charges Senator Quay with aspiring to the Pennsylvania Governorship, which will be transferred next year for a term of four years. He wishes the office, the Record thinks, in order to give him a stronger grip on the Presidential nomination in 1892. It is rather early for a Democratic paper to be hatching out Republican candidates, and also a little imprudent, as the possibility of Quay as a Presidential candidate would make the Democratic party very weak about the knees. The Republican party is not hunting for candidates. It is waiting to see what sort of a President Harrison makes. Quay may become a Presidential possibility in 1896. His Senatorial term will expire on the day of the next Presidential inauguration.

Gov. WATERMAN of California has addressed a letter to the Attorney General of the state, instructing him to order the District Attorney at Stockton to release Justice Field. He says the arrest of the Justice on the unsupported oath of a woman who on the very day the oath was taken and often before threatened his life, would be a burning disgrace to the state unless disavowed. He does not discuss the disputed question of jurisdiction in the case of Nagle, but says that "unprecedented indignity on Justice Field does not admit of argument." Democratic papers generally favor the claim of the state to jurisdiction over both Field and Nagle; Republican papers incline to the federal side of the question. Field is a Democrat, but is out of politics, and has spent most of his time in Washington for 25 years. Terry was also a Democrat, but unlike Field, was active in politics, and had a powerful "pull" at Stockton.

CRONIN MURDER TRIAL BEGUN TO-DAY.

Multitudes Claim for Admittance to Judge McConnell's Court Room.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—Probably no case in the annals of criminal history in Cook County has attracted more wide-spread attention than the Cronin murder and the deep mystery in which it has been shrouded. That this interest has in no wise abated since the disappearance of the unfortunate physician on May 4 was demonstrated by the multitude that clamored for admittance at the portal of Judge McConnell's court room at 10 o'clock this forenoon. The united efforts of several battalions were necessary to keep the mob at bay at the foot of the stairs. Promptly at 10 o'clock there was a slight rustle at the door of the Judge's private entrance and the crowd tipped in expectancy as a Deputy Sheriff entered the room and cleared the way for the prisoners who were to answer the grave charge of wantonly murdering a human being. A moment later the door was thrown open and the traveler Burke, the loquacious Woodruff, the taciturn Coughlin, the remonstrating Beggs, the silent O'Sullivan and the indignant Kunze entered and took their seats facing the Court and in the order named.

"What is the business before the Court this morning?" queried Judge McConnell as innocently as though he did not expect the Cronin case to be called until some time next year. "If the Court please," said States Attorney Longenecker advancing to the front, "I have received notice from three of the defendants in the Cronin case, asking a separate trial and saying they would apply for a writ of habeas corpus. The Court this morning. Their application, I presume, is on file."

"If Your Honor please," said Attorney Donahoe, "I desire before argument for a separate trial to present a motion on behalf of my client, John Kunze." Mr. Donahoe then formally read a motion asking the Court for an order on the States Attorney to compel the latter to furnish Kunze with a copy of the minutes or memoranda of the testimony taken before the Grand Jury which found the indictment against Kunze, or of any testimony which in any way tended to prove the guilt of said Kunze, or to allow the counsel of Kunze to examine the testimony of such witnesses before the Grand Jury, where evidence in any way tends to prove the complicity of Kunze in the Cronin murder. The motion also asked that the States Attorney furnish the names of the witnesses whose testimony tended to the indictment of Kunze. Mr. Donahoe then read a long affidavit of his client, in which Kunze recited that he never knew Dr. Cronin during the latter's life-time, never heard of his existence until after his disappearance on May 4, and that he was innocent of any complicity in or knowledge of the murder of Dr. Cronin. Kunze's affidavit closed by asking that his counsel be allowed to see the minutes of the testimony before the Grand Jury, on which he was indicted, in order that he might prepare his defense. The States Attorney asked that the motion for separate trials be passed upon first.

Counsel for Detective Daniel Coughlin then read a long affidavit, setting forth what he believed to be the theory of the prosecution, and saying that, if followed out and his client was tried with the other defendants, it would involve the introduction of testimony which, while inapplicable to Coughlin, would nevertheless prejudice his case. Coughlin then read an affidavit by Coughlin himself asserting his innocence of any complicity in the crime. Counsel for Patrick O'Sullivan next read an affidavit by his client asserting that certain evidence to be introduced against other of the defendants would be prejudicial to his case, and also asserting his innocence of the crime.

FOREST FIRES ON THE PACIFIC SLOPE. Millions of Feet of Valuable Timber Destroyed—Fire Started by Outlaws. By Cable to The Freeman.

SEATTLE, Aug. 26.—For several weeks this part of the country has been covered with a cloud of smoke, caused by extensive forest fires in every direction, the sun appearing as large as a red ball of fire. These forest fires are of unusual occurrence, destroying yearly many millions of feet of valuable timber. Started by settlers during the summer months, the fires swept unchecked through the country, and are only stopped by the commencement of the rainy season. This year the fires are more extensive than usual, and the amount of timber destroyed is almost beyond computation. The entire eastern base of the Cascade Mountains, from Natchez Pass north to the Puget Sound, is reported to be on fire, which were started by a band of outlaws fleeing from a Sheriff.

Hope Committed to the Tombs.

By Cable to The Freeman.

NEW-YORK, Aug. 26.—James Hope, the burglar, was to-day committed to the Tombs until September 2, when he will plead in the Court of General Sessions. The indictment found against him in June, 1880, for complicity in the Manhattan Bank robbery.

There is a strong probability of a series of races between horses owned by members of the Belmont Driving Club, of Philadelphia, and of the Driving Club of New-York. The proposition has been made by the Philadelphians, and the New-Yorkers look favorably upon it. Five races to road wagons between the best road horses of Philadelphia and New-York, with a non-provisional drivers up, would present a great drawing card. A double-track race would be one of the attractions.

The English Eclipse stakes for 1892 have closed with 196 entries. This year's Cesarewitch obtained 75 subscribers, and the Cambridge Handicap 106.

During the fair at Danville, Ky., last week over $20,000 worth of horses were disposed of at prices ranging from $5,000 down to $250.

The New Haven club claims to be $3,000 ahead of the season.

Pittsburg has tried nine pitchers so far this season.

The Newark club is $4,000 in debt.

The Earl of Dunraven, owner of the Valkyrie, has written a long letter, in which he explains that confusion was caused by the cablegrams that passed between the Royal Yacht Club and the New-York Yacht Club, and that those cablegrams occasioned an erroneous impression regarding his action in the matter of the challenge.

The New-York Club, it appears, misunderstood his letter of June 24. The Earl says he never suggested that the New-York Club offer a prize, but he loves the race with the Valkyrie will be arranged for in 1890.

Play began this morning in the tennis tournament at Newport, R. I. The weather was cold and the wind blew hard across the courts. The first match was W. F. Tappan vs. Z. A. Shaw. The score was 8-1, 6-1.

The other match was between E. G. Mers and O. S. Campbell. Mers won the first set 7-5. Campbell took the second set 6-1.

The tennis ball now bounds in China, though dirt courts are more frequent than grass.

Patrick Dempsey says that rowing races would be more interesting to the public if rowed on a short course—say half a mile and return. The people could then see every stroke taken in the race.

A game of foot-ball by electric light was kicked off at Chester, Pa., on Saturday night.

Luckily the engineers have discovered the obstructions in time to prevent accidents. The railroad officials are making vigorous search for the miscreants.

Job Hiles, an old soldier, declined to pay his taxes at Millville, N. J., several weeks ago, on the ground that he was entitled to $500 exemption. THE OLD VETERANS AT MILWAUKEE.

Hospitality of the City Taxed to its Utmost This Week.

By Cable to The Freeman.

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 26.—From early morn the inspiring sound of the bugles and drums could be heard on the streets leading from the railroad stations and steamboat docks. No large installments of veterans arrived until after 9 o'clock, but squads of grizzled ex-warriors, with their wives and children, came in as early as 6 o'clock enjoying the sights or resting on the curbstones and in stairways waiting for the headquarters office to open that they might be assigned to places. The crowd increased with the passing moments and by 8 o'clock the military column had arrived. General Sherman himself does not attract much more attention than does the "Corporal" Roughly estimated, there are about 40,000 veterans in town this morning, and the crowd is being swayed by every train. The City is more elaborately decorated than at any time in its history, scarcely a building in the business portion being left untrimmed. The residences have caught the infection and red, white and blue streamers in the front and rear porches. Everything is working satisfactorily for a successful outcome of the great Encampment, and if the weather holds fair the Milwaukee meeting will figure as the most successful in the history of the Grand Army of the Republic.

The train was heavily loaded with Grand Army veterans and their friends, bound for the Milwaukee Encampment, and consisted of several extra coaches. By the spreading of the rails three coaches, two Pullman sleepers and the dining car were thrown down a steep embankment a distance of 40 feet. This is an article that we have sold ever since we have been in business and is quite an important part of our stock. We sell only two grades—the very best grade of live geese feathers and a common mixed grade. Our best grade is the very best made in this country and we charge 5 cents per pound more for these goods than other dealers for the reason that we pay more for them, and feel satisfied that most people would prefer to pay a trifle more when they know they are getting the best that can be had.

Brackett is now acting Governor on account of the sickness of Gov. Ames. The Democratic candidate will probably be Hon. Wm. E. CAPT. HENRY CRAWFORD, the wealthiest steamboat owner in Pennsylvania, died at his home in Philadelphia yesterday, aged 76 years. He began life as a fireman, but at his death owned large interests in the Wilmington and Chester steamboats, the Upper Delaware Steamboat Company and the steamboat Republic, and was the sole owner of the passenger steamer Twilight. He was also largely interested in coasting schooners and tug-boats. Tugs on all the shipping in and around Philadelphia were lowered to half mast when he died.

CARLOS GRAHAM, the Niagara Rapids swimmer, went through the Devil's Rapids yesterday in a barrel so tight fit he was in total darkness. It was the most perilous adventure yet attempted in the vicinity of the Falls, and it is almost miraculous that he was not dashed to pieces. Rescuers stood ready to grasp him at the whirlpool, but he was carried on to Lewiston. When finally rescued he was more dead than alive, but soon recovered. He had been in the water 25 minutes, ten of which were spent in the four mile stretch of the rapids.

The Philadelphia Record charges Senator Quay with aspiring to the Pennsylvania Governorship, which will be transferred next year for a term of four years. He wishes the office, the Record thinks, in order to give him a stronger grip on the Presidential nomination in 1892. It is rather early for a Democratic paper to be hatching out Republican candidates, and also a little imprudent, as the possibility of Quay as a Presidential candidate would make the Democratic party very weak about the knees. The Republican party is not hunting for candidates. It is waiting to see what sort of a President Harrison makes. Quay may become a Presidential possibility in 1896. His Senatorial term will expire on the day of the next Presidential inauguration.

Gov. WATERMAN of California has addressed a letter to the Attorney General of the state, instructing him to order the District Attorney at Stockton to release Justice Field. He says the arrest of the Justice on the unsupported oath of a woman who, on the very day the oath was taken and often before, threatened his life, would be a burning disgrace to the state unless disproved. He does not discuss the disputed question of jurisdiction in the case of Nagle, but says that "unprecedented indignity on Justice Field does not admit of argument." Democratic papers generally favor the claim of the state to jurisdiction over both Field and Nagle; Republican papers incline to the federal side of the question. Field is a Democrat, but is out of politics, and has spent most of his time in Washington for 25 years. Terry was also a Democrat, but unlike Field, was active in politics, and had a powerful "pull" at Stockton.

CRONIN MURDER TRIAL BEGUN TO-DAY.

Multitudes of Men for Admittance to Judge McCone's Court Room.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—Probably no case in the annals of criminal history in Cook County has attracted more wide-spread attention than the Cronin murder and the deep mystery in which it has been enshrouded. That this interest has in no wise abated since the disappearance of the unfortunate physician on May 4 was demonstrated by the multitude that clamored for admittance at the portal of Judge McCone's court room at 10 o'clock this forenoon. The united efforts of several battalions were necessary to keep the mob at bay at the foot of the stairs. Promptly at 10 o'clock there was a slight rustle at the door of the Judge's private entrance and the crowd tipped back in expectancy as a Deputy Sheriff entered the room and cleared the way for the prisoners who were to answer the grave charge of wantonly murdering a human being. A moment later the door was thrown open and the traveler Brown, the loquacious Woodruff, the taciturn Kilrain, the renegade Beggs, the silent O'Sullivan and the indignant Kunze entered and took their seats facing the Court and in the order named.

"What is the business before the Court this morning?" queried Judge McCone as he entered the hall. He did not expect the trial and saying they would apply for a separate trial on the opening of the Court this morning. Their application, I presume, is on file.

"If Your Honor please," said Attorney Donahoe, "I desire before argument for a separate trial to present a motion on behalf of my client, John Kunze." Mr. Donahoe then formally read a motion asking the Court for an order on the States Attorney to compel the latter to furnish Kunze with a copy of the minutes or memoranda of the evidence taken before the Grand Jury which found the indictment against Kunze, or of any testimony which in any way tended to prove the guilt of said Kunze, or to allow the counsel of Kunze to examine the testimony of such witnesses before the Grand Jury, where evidence in any way tends to prove the culpability of Kunze in the Cronin murder. The motion also asked that the States Attorney furnish the names of the witnesses whose testimony tended to the indictment of Kunze. Mr. Donahoe then read a long affidavit of his client, John Kunze, reciting the facts of the Cronin murder, and the fact that he never heard of his existence until after his disappearance on May 4, and that he was entirely innocent of any complicity in or knowledge of the murder of Dr. Cronin. Kunze's affidavit closed by asking that the counsel be allowed to see the minutes of the testimony before the Grand Jury, on which he was indicted, in order that he might prepare his defense. The States Attorney asked that the motion for separate trials be passed upon first.

Counsel for Detective Daniel Coughlin then read a long affidavit, setting forth what he believed to be the theory of the prosecution, and saying that, if followed out and his client was tried with the other defendants, it would involve the introduction of testimony which, while inadmissible to Coughlin, would nevertheless be prejudicial to his client. Counsel then read an affidavit by Coughlin himself asserting his innocence of any complicity in the crime. Counsel for Patrick O'Sullivan next read an affidavit by his client asserting that certain evidence to be introduced against other of the defendants would be prejudicial to his case, and also asserting his innocence of the crime.

FOREST FIRES ON THE PACIFIC SLOPE.

Millions of Feet of Valuable Timber Destroyed—Fire Started by Outlaws.

By Cable to The Freeman.

SEATTLE, Aug. 26.—For several weeks this part of the country has been covered with a cloud of smoke, caused by extensive forest fires in every direction. The smoke appears as a red ball of fire. These forest fires are of annual occurrence, destroying yearly many millions of feet of valuable timber. Started by settlers during the summer months in clearing land, the fires sweep unchecked through the continuous forest and are only stopped by the commencement of the rainy season. This time the fires are more extensive than usual year, and the amount of timber destroyed is beyond computation. The entire eastern slope of the Cascade Mountains, from Natchez Pass north to the boundary, is reported to be in flames, which were started by a band of outlaws fleeing from a Sheriff.

There is a strong probability of a series of races between horses owned by members of the Belmont Driving Club, of Philadelphia, and of the Driving Club of New York. The proposition has been made by the Philadelphia club, and the New-Yorkers look favorably upon it. Five races to road wagons between the best road horses of Philadelphia and New-York, with non-professional drivers, would prove a great drawing card. A double-team race would be one of the attractions.

THE OLD VETERANS AT MILWAUKEE.

Hospitality of the City Taxed to Its Utmost This Week.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 26.—From early morning the inspiring sound of the fife and drum could be heard on the streets leading from the railroad stations and steamboat docks. No large insalubrious veterans arrived until after 1 o'clock, but squads of grizzled ex-warriors, with their wives and children could be seen as early as 6 o'clock enjoying the sights or resting on the curbstones and in stairways waiting for the headquarters office to open that they might be assigned to places. The crowd increased with the passing hours, and by 8 o'clock the marching companies, baggage wagons, and omnibuses made street crossing dangerous to foot passengers. The weather is delightful, and judging from the thousands who are here to-day Milwaukee's hospitality will be taxed to its utmost.

General Warner and the Kansas City contingent, about 200 strong put in an appearance about 10 o'clock and marched to the Plantation House which is the headquarters of the Commander-in-Chief. A unique feature of the morning's arrival was the entrance into the harbor of a large ark from Sturgeon Bay, loaded in tri-colored and greens and loaded to the gun with veterans from the neck of country, reaching along the Lake to Death's Door. The ark was in tow of a tug and had a pleasant voyage.

At the Plantation House, the residence of Commander Tanager is quarters, there is a crowd of veterans, not guests of the hotel, filling the lobbies and hallways anxious to get a sight of the person dispenser. General Sherman himself does not attract much attention, but the "Corporal" is the center of attraction. The residence portion has caught the infection and red, white and blue streamers in the air from pillar to post. Everything is working satisfactorily for a successful outcome of the great Encampment, and if the weather holds fair the Milwaukee meeting will figure as the most successful in the history of the Grand Army.

Among the dignitaries now in the City are Secretary Rusk, General Fairbank, Governor Board, General John C. Black, "Private" Daision, "Corporal" Tanager and Commander Warner. Judge Venable of Vermont, who has a strong following for Commander-in-Chief, is expected to-morrow. General Alger will undoubtedly be the next Commander-in-Chief, and from present indications the City of Washington will be chosen for the next National Encampment. General W. T. Sherman arrived at 1:15 P. M., and was escorted to his quarters by the Executive Council of the Encampment.

Reported Forty Passengers Were Injured, But That None Were Killed.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 26.—The Evening Journal's Strator, Ill., special says the east-bound vestibule train on the Chicago, Santa Fe & California Railroad from Kansas City was thrown off the track near that place this morning and four coaches were overturned. Fully 40 passengers were injured, but as far as known none were killed.

ANOTHER ACCIDENT.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Aug. 26.—The vestibule train on the Santa Fe route, running between Kansas City and Chicago, met with a serious accident at Kansas, a small station 100 miles north of here, at 8 o'clock this morning. The train was heavily loaded with Grand Army veterans and their friends, bound for the Milwaukee Encampment, and consisted of several extra coaches. By the spreading of the rails three coaches, two Pullman sleepers and the dining-car were thrown down a steep embankment a distance of 40 feet. Word was immediately telegraphed to the city for medical assistance and a special train was sent on with a dozen surgeons on board. The wrecker was also sent out to clear the track. Those most seriously injured were brought to this city and taken to St. Mary's Hospital where their wounds were properly attended to. In all there were probably 20 persons hurt, and though none were killed outright the following are in a very dangerous condition: Mrs. S. S. Dickerson, of Lawrence, Kas., chest and head badly cut; little son hurt about back and face; William R. Rich, of Topeka, Kas., severely head injured; Mrs. Fish, of Topeka, head, back and arms injured; T. T. Gould, of Milwaukee, back and face terribly cut; Mrs. Edward Audsley, living near Carrollton, Mo., arm, head and back badly bruised and lacerated; Mrs. R. R. Buckerman, of Topeka, face badly cut and internally injured; Mrs. George B. Peters, of Emporia, Kas., head and face mashed and cut; George Peters, of Emporia, hurt about the chest and face, also internally injured; Mrs. S. S. Johnson, of Norwalk, Conn., badly hurt internally and head and face cut; Benjamin Levy, of Strator, Ill., his face cut and arm dislocated, but his injuries are not dangerous.

NOTES ON NEWS OF THE DAY.

Our Democratic exchanges are still defying the Whisky Call for a Whisky State Convention formulated by our Whisky Governor.

THREE persons were drowned yesterday by the bursting of a dam in the town of Cranston fifteen miles from Providence. The dam covered 18 acres and contained 35,000,000 gallons of water. The weather may be wet or dry, but the rotten dam, like death, has all seasons for its own.

PRESIDENT HARRISON and his wife attended services at the little Deer Park Chapel yesterday morning. Rev. Reese Alsop of Brooklyn preached. The President took a long walk in the mountains in the afternoon. He will remain at Deer Park till the middle of September, and prepare portions of his message.

AMONG the coming appointments on the tongues of political gossips is that of Hon. Warner Miller to be minister to Russia. Col. Elliott F. Shepley is also popularly mentioned for the place. The position is the one to which the lamented Allen Thorndike Rice was assigned, and was filled during Mr. Cleveland's term by Judge Lambert Tree of Illinois.

THE dead body of Mrs. Elizabeth Lewry was found in her home in Philadelphia, Saturday afternoon. The woman was worth $100,000, and had well-to-do children who had urged her to live with them. She preferred a garret of two rooms, which was found in so filthy condition two months ago that the Board of Health ordered them cleaned. She was a miser, and died alone.

KILMAIN was led back to Purvis, Miss., yesterday morning. His bond had been fixed at $2,000, and he expected to find sureties and be released this morning. He proposes to go on sparring exhibitions, and thinks he will not need to go out of the state of New York to fight the next time. Gov. Hill can be relied upon to protect them from any laws.

It is among the rumors at Washington that Hon. Wm. D. Kelley of Philadelphia is to be Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, whether Reed or McKinley is elected Speaker. As Mr. Kelley is the best informed person in Congress on the tariff and has been a leader of the Protectionist forces for twenty years, his appointment as the successor of Roger Q. Mills would more strikingly illustrate the difference in the economical policies of the two parties than any other that could be made.

THE Republican State Convention of Massachusetts will be held on the same day as that of New York, Sept. 25th. The people are taking great interest in the Governorship, the leading candidates for which are ex-Governor Croft of New Bedford and Lieut. Gov. Brackett. The canvass looks favorable for Croft. Brackett is now acting Governor. The Democratic candidate will probably be Hon. Wm. E. Russell of Cambridge, who was defeated by over 28,000 majority last fall.

CAPT. HENRY CRAWFORD, the wealthiest steamboat owner in Pennsylvania, died at his home in Philadelphia yesterday aged 76 years. He began life as a fireman, but at his death owned large interests in the Wilmington and Chester steamboats, the Upper Delaware Steamboat Company and the steamboat Republic, and was the sole owner of the passenger steamer Twilight. He was also largely interested in coasting schooners and tug-boats. The flags on all the shipping in and around Philadelphia were lowered to half-mast when he died.

CARLOS GRAMHAM, the Niagara Rapids swimmer, went through the Devil's Rapids yesterday in a barrel so tight that he was in total darkness. It was the most perilous adventure yet attempted in the vicinity of the Falls, and it is almost miraculous that he was not dashed to pieces. Rescuers stood ready to grasp him at the whirlpool, but he was carried on to Lewiston. When finally rescued he was more dead than alive, but soon recovered. He had been in the water 25 minutes, ten of which were spent in the four mile stretch of the rapids.

THE Philadelphia Record charges Senator Quay with aspiring to the Pennsylvania Governorship, which will be transferred next year for a term of four years. He wishes the office, the Record thinks, in order to give him a stronger grip on the Presidential nomination in 1892. It is rather early for a Democratic paper to be hatching out Republican candidates, and also a little imprudent, as the possibility of Quay as a Presidential candidate would make the Democratic party very weak about the knees. The Republican party is now hunting for candidates. It is waiting to see what sort of a President Harrison makes. Quay may become a Presidential possibility in 1896. His Senatorial term will expire on the day of the next Presidential inauguration.

GOV. WATERMAN of California has addressed a letter to the Attorney General of the state, instructing him to order the District Attorney at Stockton to release Justice Field. He says the arrest of the Justice on the unsupported oath of a woman who, on the very day the oath was taken and often before, threatened his life, would be a burning disgrace to the state unless disavowed. He does not discuss the disputed question of jurisdiction in the case of Nagle, but says that "unprecedented indignity on Justice Field does no admit of argument." Democratic papers generally favor the claim of the state to jurisdiction over both Field and Nagle; Republican papers incline to the federal side of the question. Field is a Democrat, but is out of politics, and has spent most of his life in Washington for 25 years. Terry was also a Democrat, but unlike Field, was active in politics, and had a powerful "pull" at Stockton.

CRONIN MURDER TRIAL BEGUN TO-DAY.

Multitudes Gathered for Admission to Judge McCone's Court Room.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

CHICAGO, Aug. 26.—Probably no case in the annals of criminal history in Cook County has attracted more wide-spread attention than the Cronin murder and the deep mystery in which it has been enshrouded. That this interest has in no wise abated since the disappearance of the unfortunate physician on May 4 was demonstrated by the multitude that clamored for admittance at the portal of Judge McCone's court room at 10 o'clock this forenoon. The united efforts of several battalions were necessary to keep the mob at bay at the foot of the stairs. Promptly at 10 o'clock there was a slight rustle at the door and the Judge's private entrance and the crowd tipped in expectancy as a Deputy Sheriff entered the room and cleared the way for the prisoners who were to answer the grave charge of having murdered a human being. A moment later the door was thrown open and the traveler Burke, the loquacious Woodruff, the taciturn Coughlin, the reconstituted Beggs, the silent Sullivan and the indignant Kunze entered and took their seats facing the Court and in the order named.

"What is the business before the Court this morning?" queried Judge McCone as innocently as though he did not expect the trial in the Cronin case, asking a separate trial and saying they would apply for a separate trial on the opening of the Court this morning. Their application, I presume, is on file.

"If Your Honor please," said Attorney Donahoe, "I desire before argument for a separate trial to present a motion on behalf of my client, John Kunze." Mr. Donahoe then formally read a motion asking the Court for an order on the States Attorney to compel the latter to furnish Kunze with a copy of the minutes of the trial of Cronin, the testimony taken before the Grand Jury which found the indictment against Kunze, or of any testimony which in any way tended to prove the guilt of said Kunze, or to allow the counsel of Kunze to examine the testimony of said witnesses before the Grand Jury, where evidence in any way tends to prove the complicity of Kunze in the Cronin murder. The motion also asked that the States Attorney furnish the names of the witnesses whose testimony tended to the indictment of Kunze. Mr. Donahoe then read a long affidavit of his client, John Kunze, in which he stated that he knew Dr. Cronin during the latter's life-time, never heard of his existence until after his disappearance on May 4, and that he was entirely innocent of any complicity in or knowledge of the murder of Dr. Cronin. Kunze's affidavit closed by asking that his counsel be allowed to see the minutes of the testimony before the Grand Jury, on which he was indicted, in order that he might prepare his defense. The States Attorney asked that the motion for separate trials be passed upon first.

Counsel for Detective Daniel Coughlin then read a long affidavit, setting forth that he believed the minute book of the trial of Cronin, and saying that, if followed out and his client was tried with the other defendants, it would involve the introduction of testimony which, he believed, would prejudice his case. Counsel then read an affidavit by Coughlin himself asserting his innocence of any complicity in the crime. Counsel for Patrick Dempsey asked that his client be allowed to see the minutes of the testimony before the Grand Jury, on which he was indicted, in order that he might prepare his defense. The States Attorney asked that the motion for separate trials be passed upon first.

FOREST FIRES ON THE PACIFIC SLOPE.

Millions of Feet of Valuable Timber Destroyed.

By Cable to The Freeman.

SEATTLE, Aug. 26.—For several weeks this part of the country has been covered with a cloud of smoke, caused by extensive forest fires in every direction, the sun appearing as a red ball in the distance. These forest fires are of annual occurrence, destroying yearly many millions of feet of valuable timber. Started by settlers during the summer months in clearing land, the fire sweep unchecked through the continuous forest and are only stopped by the commencement of the rainy season. This year the fires are more extensive than last, and the amount of timber destroyed is almost beyond computation. The entire eastern slope of the Cascade Mountains, from Natchez Pass north to the boundary, is reported to be in flames, which is "centered by a band of out-laws fleeing from a Sheriff."

The New-York Club, it is understood, has accepted the challenge. The Earl says he never suggested that the New-York Club offer a prize, but he hopes that a race with the Valkyrie will be arranged for 1890.

ROCKFORD, Ills., Aug. 26.—The entire plant of the Union Furniture Company was burned last night. The Company will lose nearly $100,000, on which there is $40,000 insurance. The fire was caused by a Swedish-American and all the stockholders were employed in the works. The buildings were owned by ex-Mayor Finkler, who lost $25,000. There were no serious accidents, but the most distressing was the death of Ralph Emerson, Jr., only son of Ralph Emerson, President of the Emerson, Talbot & Company, who was killed by a falling beam while working on the structure from the fire. The hose was pulled, he lost his balance and fell. He struck on the back of his head and broke his neck. A man named Ward had a leg broken.

THE OLD VETERANS AT MILWAUKEE.

Hospitality of the City Tended to Its Utmost This Week.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 26.—From early morning the inspiring sound of the drum could be heard on the streets leading from the railroad stations and steamboat docks. No large instance of veterans waiting for the drum after 9 o'clock, but squads of grizzled ex-warriors with their wives and children could be seen as early as 6 o'clock enjoying the sights or resting on the benches and in the arms of waiting friends. The headquarters of the veterans were assigned to places. The crowd increased with the passing moments and by 8 o'clock the marching companies, baggage wagons and outfitting teams drew the "Corporal" out to foot passengers. The weather is delightful, and judging from the thousands who are here to day Milwaukee's hospitality will be taxed to its utmost.

General Warner and the Kansas City contingent, about 300 strong, put in an appearance about 10 o'clock and marched to the Plantation House which is the headquarters of the Commanders. A unique feature of the morning's arrival was the entrance into the harbor of a huge ark from Sturgeon Bay, bedecked in tri-colors and greens and loaded to the guns with veterans. The ark of the country, reaching along the Lake to Death's Door. The ark was in tow of a tug and had a pleasant voyage.

At the Plantation House, where Commodore Tamm is quartered, there is a crowd of veterans, not guests of the hotel, filling the lobbies and hallways anxious to get a sight of the pension dispenser. General Sherman himself does not attract much attention from the veterans.

Roughly estimated, there are about 40,000 strangers in town this morning, and the crowd is being swelled by every train. The City is more elaborately decorated than at any time in its history, scarcely a building in the business portion being left unadorned. The residence portion has caught the infection and red, white and blue streamers in the air from pillar to post. Everything is working satisfactorily for a successful outcome of the great Encampment, and if the weather holds fair the Milwaukee meeting will figure as the most successful in the history of the Grand Army.

Among the dignitaries now in the City are Secretary Russ, General Fairchild, Governor Board, General John C. Black, "Private" Tamm, "Corporal" Tamm and Commander Warner. Judge Veazey, of Vermont, who has a strong following for Commander-in-Chief, is expected to-morrow. General Alger will undoubtedly be the next Commander-in-Chief, and from present indications the City of Washington will be chosen for the next National Encampment. General W. T. Sherman arrived at 1:15 P. M., and was escorted to his quarters by the Executive Council of the Encampment.

THE CALL FOR A WHISKY CONVENTION.

The Democratic electors of the State of New York and all other citizens who favor the principles of taxation, economy and reform, are invited to attend a Whisky Convention to be held at Saratoga Springs on September 26, 1889, at 12 o'clock noon, for the purpose of nominating candidates for Secretary of State, Comptroller, State Treasurer, Attorney General, State Engineer and Surveyor, and a Judge of the Court of Appeals; also for and by whom such other business as may properly come before the convention.

EDWARD MURPHY, Jr.,
Chairman.

CORR. MEYER, Secretary.

THE CARNIVAL OF BLOOD.

There was a brutal murder in Brooklyn by New York toughs last Thursday morning, the particulars of which have been related.
The murderer was arrested, and will be tried for his life. The next morning four murderers were hanged in the Tombs prison, New York. Both events, the hangings accomplished and the hanging likely to take place, were expected to operate as a deterrent upon crime. But on Friday night, while the mur-derer of Brooklyn lay in his coffin, and while the executions were still being executed in every household, there were two more attempts at burglary in Brooklyn, in both of which the perpetrators carried arms and were prepared to do murder. One of them was at the office of Charles S. Lyman, Flushing and Clinton avenues, and the criminals were three young men, one of whom, Edward McNally, had to be brought down by a pistol shot in the month before he would surrender. The other was at Dietrich Dietrich's store, Summer avenue. A policeman traced the burglar to a cellar, and while he was groping in the dark for the rascal the latter sent a bullet whizzing close to his ear. The burglar escaped.

Thus the campaign of murder moves right along without pausing to think of consequences even when the gallows swings. As long as the chance of being put to death for the taking of life is only one in fifty, the criminal can easily compute upon his likelihood of escaping. The chaotic condition into which our laws have been thrown by the attempt to change the mode of execution has opened a new loophole of escape which is being well improved. The hardened criminal dreads no other punishment. He is in nearly every case insured to prison life and prefers it to a vagabond existence with liberty. So if he can get a few dollars by burglary to satisfy his immediate need, he is willing to add murder to his crime, if pressed by a policeman or the owner of the premises.

Besides, in New York and Brooklyn every member of the criminal classes is a politician, and has made himself useful to so great an extent that he has a pull. He expects his partisan friends to help him out of any serious trouble. It is impossible to convince one of these fellows that his political friends will allow him to hang. There are sixteen murderers in the New York Tombs awaiting trial without counting the respite Giblin, and the Brooklyn jail holds almost an equal quota.
Not one of them has any apprehension of ever reaching the gallows. Possibly one or two may make a mistake, but there is nothing in the exceeding atrocity of any one person's crime to cause the suspicion that he will be taken. If this had been the test, the Governor would not have selected Giblin for clemency last Friday and allowed the other four to hang.
Giblin's crime was the most cruel and causless of the series, being committed without provocation and while he was attempting a felony.

The machinery of capital punishment must claim more victims if there is to be a check to murder in the metropolitan cities.
The electrical apparatus needs to be set in operation at once, and the more cruel and horrible its performance, the more effectually it will protect society. Brooklyn is furnishing food for the machine now at a very rapid rate. One of the probable consequences of Friday's hangings will be a transfer of criminal operations from New York to its sister city for a time. A few executions will drive them back.

BAYARD AND BEHRING SEA.

The New York Sun has furnished a short and succinct history of the Behring Sea negotiations under the late administration.
They reflect no credit upon Secretary Bayard, either for statecraft, patriotism or courage. The whole case looks as though Behring Sea was regarded at Washington two years ago as a troublesome and useless piece of property that the government was willing to turn over to any power that would take it.
On the 19th of August, 1887, Mr. Bayard issued a circular dispatch on the subject to our ministers in Great Britain, France, Sweden and Norway, Germany, Russia and Japan. The document is so important as exposing the weakness and pusillanimity of the late administration that we copy it in full.

WASHINGTON, AUGUST 19, 1887.

Sir:—Recent occurrences have drawn the attention of this department to the necessity of taking steps for the better protection of the fur seal fishing in Behring Sea. It is the policy of this department to the exceptional measures which the peculiar character of the property in question might justify this government in taking, and without reference to any exceptional marine jurisdiction that might properly be claimed for that end, it is deemed advisable to instruct you to inform the Government of the form you wish to take in order to obtain the desired ends by international cooperation.

It is well known that the unregulated and indiscriminate killing of seals in many parts of the world has driven them from place to place, and by breaking up their habitual resorts has greatly reduced their number. Under these circumstances, and in view of the common interest of all nations in preventing the indiscriminate destruction and consequent extermination of an animal which contributes so importantly to the commercial wealth and general use of mankind, you are hereby instructed to draw the attention of the government to the subject and to enter into such an arrangement with the government of the United States as will prevent the unregulated and indiscriminate killing of seals in Behring Sea at such times and places and by such methods as at present are pursued, and which threaten the speedy extermination of these animals and consequent serious loss to mankind.

This circular of surrender was issued when Mr. Bayard had on file in his office the deed of transfer from Russia which gave the United States exclusive possession and control of the western half of Behring Sea. The Rush was at this time patrolling the sea, with the ostensible purpose of clearing it of seal pirates but under secret orders which the Captain has since brought to light, to offer the pirates no molestation. Lord Salisbury replied promptly through Minister Phelps to the circular for Great Britain, and asked the American government to furnish a sketch of a system of regulations which would be adequate for the purpose. The minister also advised that copies of the regulations be addressed to the other governments to which the circular had been sent.

This reply was received November 12th. Mr.
Bayard did not answer it till February 7th, 1888.
And instead of formulating a code of regulations, he then sent what he described as "A concise statement as to that part of the life of the seal which is spent in Behring Sea." Minister Phelps at once conveyed this precious information to Salisbury, and again urged Bayard to take into consideration the manner in which you would propose to carry out the regulations of the fisheries that may be agreed upon."

A week later, Phelps appealed to Bayard again, informing him that Salisbury would "join the United States government in any preventive measures it may be thought best to adopt by orders issued to the naval vessels of the respective governments." Bayard's reply to this was that the protection which could be given to the seals "would depend upon the kind of arrangements which Great Britain would be willing to make with the United States."

Mr. Bayard had no plan of his own, or if he did he had not the courage to formulate it. He invited Salisbury to furnish the plan, indicating the readiness of his government to accept anything that would be satisfactory to Great Britain. Again there was delay, and on the 20th of June Mr. Bayard received the information from the American Secretary of Legation in London that the Canadian government had asked Salisbury to wait the arrival of a memorial which it had forwarded to him on the subject. Canada had heard of Bayard's supineness and sycophancy, and was eager to prepare for Salisbury the plan of protection which Bayard had invited him to furnish.
This appears to have been the end of the matter.
The Presidential canvass was begun, the Sackville-West incident furnished a new subject of international discussion, Mr. Cleveland was defeated, and the Behring Sea question was handed over to the Harrison administration. Congress, Democratic in one branch, and with Mr. Cleveland still in the Presidency, passed an act directing the President to promulgate to order all peacemakers out of the navy. President Harrison has complied with that order. The pirates are being driven out on a plan wholly and exclusively American, and Great Britain, instead of "letting slip the dogs of war," is wailing our government as gently as a sucking calf. It makes all the difference in the world, and throughout the world, whether there is backbone or politeness at the head of affairs in Washington.

PUBLIC OPINION.

"Killed by the physicians" is the verdict that should have followed the autopsy of Congressman Laird's body. He was treated for an imaginary ailment, and with the aid of a couple of would-be physicians, was hastened into an untimely grave.—Wichita Journal.

The salt trust scheme collapsed, because it did not receive sufficient support in this country.
In England the shares of the combination went like hot cakes, but the American capitalists held aloof. The reason of the failure was that the American salt industry has developed beyond the possibility of control by any one combination.—Minneapolis Tribune.

We observe that foreign immigration continues to fall off. In the month of July it was less than in the corresponding month of last year by about 8,000, and in the seven months ending with July by about 90,000. The conclusion would seem to be, increased prosperity or increased hopefulness as to prosperity on the other side. It may also be assumed that there is less fear of coming war in Europe.—New York Sun.

The expression "How's that for high?" promises again to be popular. A company with $100,000,000 capital has been organized in London to build a tower twice as high as Eiffel, and Murat Halsted says the one at New York is too much of a peasant politician for that high tower. It will build her tower so high that people going up in it will not get back before the close of the Exposition.—Brooklyn Standard-Union.

Governor David B. Hill wants to succeed
Mr. Evans as Senator from the Empire State.
David is also credited with a consuming desire to succeed Benjamin Harrison as President in 1892. As New York has not had a Democratic Senator for eight years, Hill's chances of success are not nearly so large as his ambitions nor so comprehensive as his demagoguery.
As for the Presidency, Mr. Hill is too much of a peasant politician for that high office.—Cleveland Leader.

In the call to all who favor high taxes and drunkenness, why was there no appeal to all who believe in money in politics, and unlimited corruption at the polls? This was a grave omission. Governor Hill has spoken clearly and loudly his belief in bribery. The party must rally to his support. We look to the Syracuse convention to supply the omission of the State committee and take as a firm stand for buying votes as the committee has for free ruin.—Albany Express.

American rights in Behring Sea are those that the United States derived directly from Russia. In case of a war between the United States and Great Britain, Russia would have an indirect motive for sustaining the position assumed by our government, as we had a direct motive for seeking to curb the power of Great Britain. In any event, the relations of the two great powers is a question that Great Britain will be apt to regard as worth considering.—Philadelphia Times.

Women enjoy municipal suffrage in Kansas, and the Governor, Attorney-General, Justice and two Associate Justices unite in saying that the plan works admirably, and is a great public benefit. When the practical test is made, the theory that women are fools, and incompetent to deal wisely with political affairs is refuted every time.
If this country shall ever be so unfortunate as to go to the dogs, the women will not be responsible for the fact.—Troy Press.

General Mahone is the nominee of the Republican party in Virginia for Governor. He will make a hot and gallant fight, with good chances of overthrowing the slender Democratic majority.
Mahone brought universal displeasure upon himself last year by his effort to restore the unit rule in the Virginia delegation at the National Republican convention, but we believe he is now under a promise to observe the rights of the Republican districts. If he observe that promise, the party at large has no quarrel with the little General.—Syracuse Standard.

"Summary laws or regulations, such as restrain or limit the expenses of citizens in appeal, food, furniture or the like." This is the literal dictionary definition. The call for the Democratic State Convention asks for the cooperation of all who are opposed to summary laws. Is there a summary law in existence in this State? Has there been a summary law here for a hundred years or more? Would the people for one moment tolerate the enforcement of a summary law? No; and the man who drew up that call knows it. But anything that legitimately curbs or restrains liquor selling and closes the low dens and grogeries threatens danger to the party, so the hypocritical term "summary laws" is conjured up to hide the real purpose of the call.—Troy Times.
